Harry Heublum

Columbia University Bootcamp

Matplotlib Homework

Three observable trends based on the data include:

* Fares collected on trips in urban areas tended to be less than in rural areas. This is likely because urban trips were shorter than rural trips.

* Nearly 81% of all drivers are located in the city. This is due to higher demand there for around 68% of all trips.

* Urban trips made up nearly two-thirds (63%) of fare volume.